

To Whom It May Concern:

I/We, Alex Pasternak ("Licensor"), am/are the owner(s) of the sound recording and musical composition rights in the following work(s):

Track Title(s): Hey McCloud get offa My Ewe

I/We hereby authorize independent content creators, including streamers and YouTubers, to include the above-listed music in recorded or live gameplay footage of the video game titled I Herd Ewe (the "Game"), subject to the following conditions:

1. The music must appear incidentally as part of authentic gameplay footage of the Game and must not be the primary focus of the content.
2. The creator must not isolate, loop, excerpt, or separately distribute the music outside of gameplay context.
3. The creator must not claim ownership of the music.
4. Monetization: The creator may monetize such content.

Content creators who receive a Content ID claim on qualifying content may reference this letter when submitting a dispute through YouTube's copyright dispute process. This authorization applies worldwide and remains in effect for the duration of the license agreement between Licensor and the Game's developer/publisher, 1 2 Many Humans LLC.

This letter does not constitute a transfer of copyright or a general music license, and does not authorize any use of the music outside the scope described above.
